Hand carved oval mirror

Acanthus Mirror

Model: MR 055 ACT

Fine Carved wooden oval mirror.

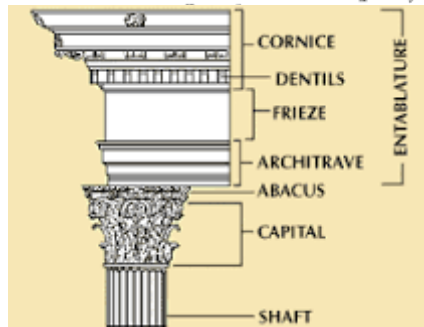

The Acanthus spinosus is a Mediterranean plant with jagged leaves, and was used extensively in a stylised form by the Greeks from the 5th c bce, and later by the Romans. Notably on the Corinthian column capital.

The Acanthus (also known as Bear's Breeches) is a symbol of birth and immortality.

It's use as a design motif continued throughout European design right through until the 19th century.

The Classic Chair Company

Classic chairs' elegant Acanthus Mirror continues this tradition, with the addition of Rococo motifs of scrolling leaf forms and shells.

The Acanthus mirror is available in any finish: gilded or painted as shown.

Dimensions (mm): w 750 x 1320 h

Available painted in your choice of colour.
