

The Classic Chair Company
London

CLASSIC BRONZE CANDLE LAMP LT-PKCL

Classic Bronze Candle Lamp

Model: LT PKCL

A very "Classical" table lamp, copied from an antique French Restauration example of a cast candlestick. It was most likely made by Thomas Messenger of Birmingham and London, and dates from around 1815.

All the motifs are drawn from the Ancient Roman civilisation, which had such a profound and enduring influence on design, right up to the present day.

The lamp is a very good size for a side table or a desk top reading lamp.

Cast brass with a bronze finish.

Dimensions (mm): w 200 d 200 h 450 to the fitting.

Historical note: Patterns for similar tripod lamps were published by Henry Moses "A Collection of Antique

The Classic Chair Company

Vases, altars, Paterae, Tripods, Candelabra, Sarcophagi" London 1814

PRODUCT DESCRIPTION

Classic Bronze Candle Lamp

Model: LT PKCL

A very "Classical" table lamp, copied from an antique French Restauration example of a cast candlestick. It was most likely made by Thomas Messenger of Birmingham and London, and dates from around 1815.

All the motifs are drawn from the Ancient Roman civilisation, which had such a profound and enduring influence on design, right up to the present day.

The lamp is a very good size for a side table or a desk top reading lamp.

Cast brass with a bronze finish.

Dimensions (mm): w 200 d 200 h 450 to the fitting.

Historical note: Patterns for similar tripod lamps were published by Henry Moses "A Collection of Antique Vases,

The Classic Chair Company

altars, Paterae, Tripods, Candelabra, Sarcophagi" London 1814